Underage Coaches and Mentors shall:

Always remember that people participate for pleasure and winning is only part of the fun. Place the well-being and safety of all people involved (player, visiting player, supporter, or any other) above development or performance and fully adhere to all rules, guidelines and codes of conduct laid down by the GAA and by the club. Ensure that all players get the chance to play and get to try different positions. Create opportunities for participants to learn appropriate sports behaviour as well as skills. Give priority to free play activities, skills learning and activities that are structured to optimise the level of fun, friendship and fair play. Ensure that people train and play in a safe, supportive and stimulating environment where they are encouraged to risk error, to learn and to derive maximum enjoyment from their involvement. Ensure that activities are appropriate to the age, maturity and ability of the players. Keep up to date with coaching practices and qualifications and the principles of physical growth and development. Help people that participate to understand that playing by the rules is their responsibility. Relate to each, officials, oppositions players, coaches, mentors and supporters in a courteous and polite way. Endeavour to ensure that everyone involved, whether as players, parents/guardians, spectators, supporters, coaches, mentors, teachers, officials, etc., adhere to the key underpinning principles, and give expression to, the GAA 'Give Respect, Get Respect' initiative. Lead by example.

This is not an exhaustive listing of the remit and/or responsibilities of the Underage Coaches and Mentors.
